Personal Information

We collect personal information when we provide services to you. Generally we will tell you why we are collecting information and how we plan to use it. We collect personal information such as your name, telephone number and email.

Terms and conditions

- The price of each textbook will be set at the discretion of the seller. Once set, this price is non-negotiable to any potential buyers. The seller of the item may change the price at any time by contacting the UC Life! Campus Life Coordinator in writing.
- UC Life! cannot guarantee the sale of any textbooks during the operations of the secondhand bookfair.
- UC Life! will provide payment to the seller of the item only after the item has been sold. This payment will be made in cash.
- UC Life! will contact you following the closure of the bookfair notifying you when you must collect your money/unsold textbooks
- UC Life! shall not be responsible for ant items sold, for any damage during transit or during inspection period, nor for misrepresentations and/or breaches of contact by either buyer and/or seller. UC Life! shall not be responsible for the cost of procurement of substitute goods or any losses resulting from any goods purchased or obtained. However if you fall victim of a fraudulent transaction we will assist you as much as we can.
- You must ensure that your participation in the selling or buying of items does not violate applicable laws or regulations. By this we mean you must check you are entitled to sell or buy the relevant item and that you are not prohibited from doing so by any law regulation.
- UC Life! will not provide refunds or exchange for goods sold at the secondhand bookfair under any circumstances. Plenty of signage will be placed at the book fair to ensure that all buyers are aware of this.
- All transactions will be made with CASH only. No EFTPOS or credit facilities will be available on the day.

By signing this document you are agreeing to all of the terms and conditions as outlined above.
